THE DIFFERENT STAGES OF THE TRACKING PROCESS:

DETECTION → REACTION → REMEDIATION

Efficient and fast Remediation capabilities offer organizations the ability to significantly reduce the impact of detected threats. In many cases, there is a direct correlation between the time needed to respond to an incident and the overall cost of it, such as in a data breach. Therefore, it is critical to detect the threats as soon as possible, and then remediate them fast.

Blueliv incorporates in its offerings several remediation capabilities, to enable organizations to mitigate different types of threats with the greatest speed and efficiency.

Blueliv incorporates in its offerings several remediation capabilities, to enable organizations to mitigate different types of threats with the greatest speed and efficiency. Some of these capabilities are automated Blueliv technology. Others are manual services that Blueliv offers to customers. In any case, Blueliv always offers through its remediation catalogue a list of suggestions to tackle every situation.
